

I cannot imagine a scenario under which free enterprise or any media should be restricted from providing this type of information to its listeners. Support of such a measure would clearly violate most of what America stands for.